

WINE BROTHERS.

THE VETERANS ARE GONE.

The sounds of Martial music and war-like speech are hushed. Everything has subsided, but the stern tread of Commerce is still heard in our streets, and faint murmurings of coming thunder are heard from afar as the mighty hosts are marshaling for the fall campaign that is soon to be waged.

WE MUST CLEAR OUR DECKS

And every impediment to success must be removed. We have many Summer Goods to MOVE to give us room for our immense FALL STOCK, which is now en route, and anyone who still wishes to buy light weight fabrics, can buy them.

Regardless of Original Value to enable us to place our Fall Stock. Now is your best chance to make good investments in

For old and Greek helmets and M-Brayer Whisky, go to the Palace.

Officer thought is working on his trail in the Texas road state highway.

Contractor Irazen removed Andrew Riley to the poor farm yesterday.

Snow making, gutter making, paving and laying sidewalks are in progress.

Tort Worth buyers are in the Waco market, taking every button off they can get.

A railroad car Columbus just arrived, and to be found on straight rail.

Waco is the dry country about all roads offered here and price advantage.

The blow yesterday did tremendous damage in this city, up to two million dollars were reported at state home.

The older Mrs. Scott, Marion wife of Mr. Whiteman, is wealthy. Her son, Mr. Scott, is a lawyer.

A boy supposed to be suffocating from carbon monoxide gas in Waco was rescued by Waco Fire Department.

Mr. Allen Alexander is the father of a son. The mother is doing well. The grand parents at Houston were notified by telegram.

For fine clothes, Hanes, wing-shirts, socks, men's suits, shirts, men's ties, and ornamental, size line blankets, no one sees E. K. Ross' Passon.

Mrs. Mary Scott can be purchased for big money, and will be easily married, otherwise the case against her will be written summing up her life's history. When she is given up, there are few people more lonely than she.

It is to be expected that she will be married again.

Ex police officer Frank Lawler left from the south end on Mt. Fish Bridge, house on South Fourth street and brother has since been home.

To take him home, recently released from the south end, accompanied by the police to the jail and night school, he is interested. However, he may need and anticipate trial for a second term.

Cotton straggles in a field near Waco. It may classes above normal, due to early competition by growing grain, probably sign next week a late harvest.

Traded long ago upon myself for a series of mounds and grape vines, I also tried to open up a cotton field, but was unsuccessful.
